

Shaker to Fit - price list

Sconces

16" high, 8 1/2" wide, 6 1/2" deep

Made for quartersawn cherry. Natural finish, hand-rubbed with tung oil, boiled linseed oil and varnish.

Single sconce - $135, a pair - $250

Candlestands

End tables are 25" high with tops about 16" in diameter. Because candlestands are a classic Shaker design, we generally do not modify their sizes, but alterations may be possible. Cherry is the conventional wood choice, but figured maple is nice, too, though more expensive. Legs taper in thickness, getting thinner toward the floor.

Cherry candlestands are $775 each. Figured maple $850.

End tables

End tables are generally 28" high with tops about 18" square. Dimensions can vary depending on need. Legs can be tapered or turned round. With one drawer or two, one above the other. Tapered legs allow a shelf low between the legs. Shelf is also possible with turned legs, but higher up closer to the drawer.

From $950 to $1250, depending on size, style and type of wood with a 10% discount for a pair of end tables.

Side tables

Dining room side tables are generally 28" high with tops about 48" long and 18" deep. Kitchen side tables may be higher to accommodate stools. Behind-the-sofa tables may need to be lower. All dimensions can vary depending on you. There are usually multiple drawers across the face of these tables. Legs can be straight tapered or turned round. There can also be a shelf below the drawers.

Prices from $1,500 to $2,000 depending on size, style, type of wood, drawer count and presence of shelf.

Coffee tables

Coffee tables are usually 18" high, sized to your need usually with multiple drawers across one side face. Legs can be straight tapered or turned round. There can also be a shelf below the drawers.

Prices range from $1,500 to $2,000 depending on size, style and type of wood.

Dining tables

Dining tables come in two styles, trestle or four-legged, usually sized to accommodate six or eight people. The four-legged style can have leaves at each end, allowing two additional diners. Dining tables are generally 32" high, 36" wide, 72" long for six diners, 96" long for eight.

Prices range from $2000 to $4,500 depending on size, style and type of wood.

Dressers

Shaker dressers can take many forms depending on your need. In addition to drawers, they can also include cupboards either above the drawers or to the side. Pediment style can be four-footed as shown to the right, or fully flat to the floor. Primary woods can be cherry or figured maple. Poplar is the secondary wood for drawer sides and bottoms. Drawer bottoms can also be of aromatic cedar. For milk-painted exteriors, plain maple or poplar serve as the primary wood.

Prices range from $4000 to $8000 depending on size, style, drawer count and type of wood.

Hutches

To us, a hutch means a piece with a counter in the middle, storage below and shelves above. The upper shelves are less deep than the counter and may be open or behind doors. The lower storage can be drawers, cupboards, an exposed shelf or a combination. The cupboard interiors generally have shelves or sliding trays.

Prices range from $3,500 to $5,000 depending on size, style and type of wood.

Chimney cupboard

About 75" tall, 18" wide and 12" deep, chimney cupboards typically have seven shelves inside, two of which can be adjustable in height. Exteriors are usually natural-finished cherry or milk-painted maple. For visibility, interiors are generally finished in a light colored milk paint.

Milk-painted, $1,800. In cherry, $2,100.

Cradle

Our cradle is a traditional on-the-floor sideways rocker, joined at the corners by hand-cut dovetails. A foam mattress encased in cotton ticking is included. Mattress size is 32" by 10." We do not make elevated swing cradles.

In cherry, $1400.

Step stool

Stool shown here is a traditional Shaker design. Joined with exposed hand-cut dovetails, it is rather tall and shallow, so we recommend against standing on its upper step. If you're looking for a stool for reaching high upper shelves, call us and we'll send plans for a broader based stool.

In cherry as shown here, $750.

Hanging cupboard

This small cupboard is usually 24" high, 13" wide, 5" deep, but other proportions can be accommodated. It has three shelves inside, two adjustable in height. Joined at the corners by hand-cut dovetails. Typically in natural finished cherry. Also available in figured or milk-painted maple.

Prices range from $400 to $450 depending on wood and finish.

Bench

18" high, 48" long, 12" deep, joined by sliding dovetails and interlocking trestle and legs. Stock is 1 1/8" thick and extremely durable.

In natural finished cherry, $450.
